The British JCI Senate Subscriptions

We ask that each year, the members of the British Senate make a contribution of £25 each (£35 for a non UK address). Why do we do this, and how do our members benefit?

- The British Senate supports JCI UK in various ways. We offer bursaries to JCI UK new members to attend international events. We sponsor the JCI UK Most Outstanding New Member Award, which is a trophy and financial support to attend an international event.
- We have an interactive and up to date website, setting out events both nationally and internationally, online booking facilities, and useful information on what we are all about.
- A British Senate Newsletter combining news from the British Senate and JCI UK as well as regular e-mail updates from the Chairman.
- The European Newsletter.
- The British Senate Business Directory, promoting Senators who wish to do business with each other.
- Insurance – needed for events run by senators throughout the year.

We are very lucky to have a thriving and active Senate organisation, but to keep pace this does mean that we incur administrative expenses too, such as webhosting and design updates, postage, and room hire. Expenses are kept to a minimum, in particular Chairman's expenses, which are capped and have strictly controlled usage parameters, with clear expectations of what events the Chairman should attend, but we could not function as an organisation without these costs being incurred.

To those that contribute more, or sponsor particular events or budgetary items a special thank-you as we could not function so successfully without this support.

To those who have not updated your standing order in the last few years, we would be very grateful if you would. With the advent of banking online, it is a click of a button.
